IN THE SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES

MAY 4, 2022

Mr. MURPHY introduced the following bill; which was read twice and referred to the Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs

---

A BILL

To amend chapter 22 of title 44, United States Code, to ensure Presidential records are preserved, duly created when non-official electronic messaging accounts are used, and made available to the public and the next administration in a timely fashion to advance national security and accountability, and for other purposes.

1       Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
2       tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

3       SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

4       This Act may be cited as the “Promoting Account-5       ability and Security in Transitions Act of 2022” or the 6       “PAST Act of 2022”.

1   SEC. 2. SENSE OF CONGRESS.

2       The sense of Congress is the following:

3               (1) The preservation of Presidential records (as 4       defined in section 2201 of title 44, United States
5       Code) is a legal obligation for every Presidential ad-
6       ministration, as Presidential records are the most 7       important and widely used source for studying how 8       the executive branch of the Federal Government
9       works, how it has changed over time, and how it
10      might evolve to serve the needs of a new era.

11               (2) The preservation of Presidential records is 12      therefore vital for—

13                       (A) the public to be able to understand
14      and learn from the past;

15                       (B) future policymaking to build on the 16      past administration’s successes and experience;

17                       (C) ensuring accountability for results, 18      performance, and conduct; and

19                       (D) other purposes that serve to strength-
20      en American democracy.

21               (3) Any effort to destroy, alter, or remove Pres-
22      idential records in violation of chapter 22 of title 44,
23      United States Code—

24                       (A) threatens the values described in para-25      graph (2); and

(B) may subject a person engaging in such efforts to other criminal penalties under section 641 or 2071 of title 18, United States Code.

9                         (5) What constitutes a Presidential record is 10                         determined solely by whether the record relates to 11                         the “carrying out of constitutional, statutory, or 12                         other official or ceremonial duties of the President”, 13                         as indicated in the definition of the term “Presi-14                         dential records” in section 2201 of title 44, United 15                         States Code, and by the content of the information 16                         contained in the record.

17                         (6) For communication between agencies and 18                         the Executive Office of the President, the copy of 19                         the record belonging to the agency is retained as an 20                         agency record pursuant to section 3301 of title 44,
21                         United States Code.

(7) Consistent with section 2203 of title 44,
United States Code, any Presidential records created with non-official electronic media shall be “preserved”, which includes a comprehensive documenta-

1       tion of all records and associated metadata and at-2       tachments.

3                 (8) Applications or software with an automatic 4       deleting functionality are antithetical to the legal 5       and historical obligations described under chapter 22
6       of title 44, United States Code.

7                 (9) Periods of Presidential transition are mo-
8       ments where the national security of the United 9       States is most vulnerable, necessitating an early,
10      good faith, and consistent commitment by the out-
11      going administration to ensure continuity of oper-
12      ations as it relates to national security and pro-
13      tecting critical infrastructure, among other reasons.

14                 (10) Agencies and the Executive Office of the 15       President are required by law to cooperate with the 16       Archivist of the United States and the Federal 17       Transition Coordinator of the General Services Ad-
18       ministration, who is tasked with ensuring agencies
19       comply with all statutory requirements relating to 20       transition planning under section 4(c) of the Presi-
21       dential Transition Act of 1963 (3 U.S.C. 102 note).

22                 (11) During a Presidential transition, Presi-
23       dential records, which contain valuable information
24       regarding agreements or negotiations with foreign 25       governments and international organizations and the

1 actions and beliefs of foreign nations or actors, are 2 of enormous value to the national security.

3 (12) Any effort to delay briefings, coordination,
4 and sharing of information regarding key national 5 security relationships, threats, and operations with 6 an incoming administration or the destruction, re-
7 moval, or alteration of Presidential records that at-8 test to the information described in this section
9 could pose a grave danger to the national security.

10 (13) An expeditious ascertainment of the plau-
11 sible President-elect and Vice-President-elect by the 12 Administrator of General Services plays a vital role
13 in ensuring continuity of Government and protecting 14 national security such that the risk of redundant ex-
15 penditure is overwhelmed by the advantages of an 16 early access to transition resources to allow for tran-
17 sition planning.

18 (14) The National Archives and Records Ad-
19 ministration plays an essential role in ensuring the 20 official proceedings of Government are documented
21 to improve democracy in the United States, protect 22 national security, provide continuity of Government 23 during a transition, and promote accountability for 24 actions taking during a Presidency.
